DÉBUT ART

the coningsby gallery

Since 1985, Début Art (with offices in London and New York) has pro-actively sought out leading contemporary image-makers & clients who create original, progressive and commercially successful media material. Today, Début Art and the highly artistic illustrators and studios it promotes are widely regarded, both in the UK and around the world, as representing one of the finest and most original talent groupings in the field of illustration.

Début Art and the illustrators it markets have successfully undertaken assignments worldwide for very many companies that are leaders in their fields including: Apple, Google, Nike, The USPS, Coca-Cola,Proctor and Gamble, Rolex, Samsung, Johnnie Walker, Levi's, Rolls-Royce, Shell, The NYSE, The London Stock Exchange, Bloomberg, American Express, Barclaycard, HSBC, IBM, British Airways, Unilever, Harrods, Selfridges, Macy's, McDonalds, Bloomingdale's, Verizon, Lucas Inc, The Royal Opera House (London), Universal Music, Sony, Miller, Burton, Harper Collins, The New Yorker, TIME Magazine,
The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Times (London), Le Monde, The Economist, The Financial Times, Vogue, Cosmopolitan and National Geographic Magazine.

Full portfolios for every artist can be reviewed and requested via www.debutart.com.

The Coningsby Gallery stages some 25 exhibitions per year by selected leading illustrators, photographers and fine artists. Reviews of previous exhibitions, a look at upcoming shows and a photo tour of the gallery can be accessed at www.coningsbygallery.com.

CENTRAL ILLUSTRATION AGENCY

www.centralillustration.com | +44(0)20 3222 0007 | info@centralillustration.

Established in 1983, The Central Illustration Agency represents some of the World's finest commercial illustrators and animators. We represent 90 artists based around the globe and cover all fields of illustration from 3D rendering and character design to wood engraving and paper sculpture. With an animation house that can work with any of our artists, we can answer any illustration brief and make it move too.

CIA is expanding! If you have agency experience and are interested in being a regional representative for our artists in the USA, get in touch.

WE DIDN'T INVENT
THE SMALL BATCH
We make tequila for the whole world, but we handcraft it in small batches. While others choose a faster cooking process, our 100% Weber Blue Agave is slow roasted in small brick ovens for more than three days to ensure every piece is cooked evenly. Then it's distilled in small-capacity custom copper stills for our signature smooth taste. We didn't invent the small batch.
WE JUST PERFECTED IT.

Goofus and Gallant®

There's some of Goofus and Gallant in us all.
When the Gallant shines through, we show our best self.

"Why can't I say that? Kids at school do," says Goofus

Gallant doesn't use bad language.

Goofus handles other people's food.

Would you like a burger?" asks Gallant.

House Hunters: Igloo Edition
If you're stuck in the tundra and need shelter pronto, channel your inner Inuit and build an igloo! Warmed by body heat alone, the air inside an igloo can be over 100 degrees warmer than outside. Follow these steps, and you won't become a human popsicle.
1) Stamp the snow flat where you want to build.
2) Construct a bunch of cinder-block-sized bricks of compacted snow.
3) Place the blocks in a circle and spiral your way up. Like a bricklayer, stagger the blocks as you go higher.
4) Bevel the bottom of the blocks so the wall slants inward. Don't stress about the walls caving in. Ice crystals are Mother Nature's super glue!
5) Stuff any gaps with snow to stabilize the walls, and keep climbing until the igloo reaches your shoulders.
6) Plug the hole at the top with an oversized capstone. It'll make the entire igloo sturdy.
7) Shovel loose snow onto the igloo and pack all the crevices.
8) Create an entrance by digging a hole under the wall. To drive cold air out, make sure it's lower than the rest of the igloo.
9) Poke an air hole up top so the carbon dioxide from your breath can escape.
10) Hunker down! Your body's the furnace now. Your body heat will will melt the snow a little, but don't worry. Your walls refreeze when you go out hunting caribou, transforming your domed home into a fortress of solid ice.
